Tables, stoves, &c., &c. Then they want FURNITURE, consequently, we have been induced to keep always on hand a well selected stock of plain FURNITURE, not calculating from the proceeds of profit, but from the fact that a complete outfit, can be purchased at our house for house keeping, relieves the necessity from much trouble and many small bills—have the accommodating of our customers recently enlarged our furniture rooms, and can now, and will in future be able to offer inducements to all wishing to purchase—provided low cash figures be an inducement. Carter's Spanish Mixture.
The Great Purifier of the Blood!

Not a particle of Mercury in it.

An infallible Remedy for Scrofula, King's Evil, Rheumatism, Obstinate Cutaneous Eruptions, Pimples or Pustules on the Face, Blotches, Boils, Chronic Sore Eyes, Ring Worm or Tetter, Scald Head, Enlargement and Pain of the Bones and Joints, Sinburn Ulcers, Syphilitic Disorders, Lumbago, Spinal Complaints, and all Diseases arising from an injudicious use of Mercury, Imprudence in Life, or Impurity of the Blood.

This valuable Medicine, which has become for the number of extraordinary cures effected through its agency, has upheld the proprietors, at the urgent request of their friends, to offer it to the public, which they do with the utmost confidence in its virtues and wonderful curative properties. The following certificates, selected from a large number, are however, strong testimony than the mere word of the proprietors, and are from gentlemen well known in their localities, and of the highest respectability, many of them residing in the city of Richmond Virginia.

E. Boyden, Esq., of the Exchange Hotel, Richmond needs no where, says he has seen the Medicine called CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE administered in over a hundred cases, in nearly all the diseases of which it is recommended, with the most astonishing and good results. He says it is the most extraordinary medicine he has ever seen

Ague and fever—great cure.—I hereby certify, that for three years I had Ague and Fever of the most violent description. I had several Physicians, took large quantities of Quinine, Mercury, and I believe all the nostrums advertised, but all without any permanent relief. At last I tried CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE, two bottles of which effectually cured me, and I am happy to say it have had neither Chills or Fever since. I consider it the best Tonic in the world, and the only medicine that ever reached my case. JNO. LONGDEN.

C. B. LUCK, Esq., now in the city of Richmond, and for many years in the Post Office, has such confidence in the astonishing efficacy of CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE, that he has bought upwards of 50 bottles, which he has given away to the afflicted. Mr. Luck says he never known it to fail when taken according to directions.

LANGE, a practising Physician, and formerly of the City Hotel, in the city of Richmond, says he had witnessed in a number of instances the effects of CARTER'S SPANISH MIXTURE which were most strikingly surprising. He says in a case of Consumption, dependent on the Liver, the good effects were wonderful indeed.

Samuel M. Brinkley of the firm of Brinker & Morris mentioned was cured of Liver complaint of very long standing, by the use of two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture.

Great cure for Scrofula.—The Editors of the Richmond Republican had a servant employed in their press room afflicted with Scrofula, commenced with Ringworm, which entirely disabled him from work. Two bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture made a perfect cure of him, and the Editors, in a public notice, say they "feel fully recommend it to all who are afflicted with any disease of the blood."

Still another cure of Scrofula.—I had a very valuable boy cured of Scrofula by Carter's Spanish Mixture, and consider it a truly valuable medicine. James M. Taylor Conductor on the R. F. & P. R. R. Co., Richmond Va.

Salt Rheum of 20 years Standing Cured.

Mr. John Thompson, residing in the city of Richmond, was cured by three bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, of Salt Rheum, which he had nearly 20 years, and which all the physicians of the city could not cure. Mr. Thompson is a well known merchant in the city of Richmond, Va., and his cure is most remarkable.

Wm. A. Matthews, of Richmond Va., had a servant cured of Syphilis, in the worst form, by Carter's Spanish Mixture. He says he cheerfully recommends it, and considers it an invaluable medicine

Richard E. West, of Richmond was cured by of Scrofula, and what Physicians called confirmed Consumption, by three bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture

Edwin Burton, Commissioner of the Revenue says he has seen the good effects of Carter's Spanish Mixture in a number of S philitic cases, and says it is a perfect cure for that horrible disease.

Wm. G. Harwood, of Richmond, Va., cured of Old Sores and Ulcers, which disabled him from walking—took a few bottles of Carter's Spanish Mixture, and was enabled to walk without a crutch, in a short time, entirely cured.

Appointment by the Governor.

Geo. B Cook, Esq., of Caldwell Co. to be Judge in the 2d Circuit Court Judicial District to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Stites.

We announce to-day the appointment of Geo. B. Cook, Esq., of Caldwell county to be Judge of the 2nd Judicial District to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Judge Stites.—Judge Cook will have a brief judgeship. The vacancy in that district will be filled by election in August next—a writ of election has been issued for that purpose. Judge Cook is an intelligent gentleman, and will doubtless fill the office to the satisfaction of the people.

MOST TRUE—A SCRAP.—The Louisville Democrat properly sets forth the peculiar virtues of Rev. Theodore Parker, of Boston, when it calls him 'a political demagogue, who prostitutes the clerical office to gratify a lust of notoriety. He has a people to listen to him whose taste and principles, or want of principles, his declamations suit. His performances on Sunday are a good substitute for theatrical representations, which obtain in other places. Many fashionable people are tired of the old story of the New Testament, or most likely never had any interest in it, and they go to hear Parker's oddities and vituperation as an entertainment, and call it attending Church!

These Bostonians will not attend a theater, a horse-race, or a fish-fry on Sunday; but they will go to hear Parker preach. No wonder men often learn to sneer at the Bible, the church, and religion itself, when they see the Rev. Parker's performance pass off as religious exercises, even among respectable people, who go as soberly to meeting as if they were in earnest. Parker looks solemn and prays; he carries out the show with approved formality.

Now, we may tolerate the rogue who cheats his fellow man; but the hypocrite who mocks his God, is an intolerant nuisance. We don't object to Parker's holding forth, nor to the practices of his hearers, but to the sin-ane of having these performances under the name of religion.

AN ABOLITION MOVEMENT. On the 8th inst. the 'Boston Vigilance Committee,' an abolition organization, headed by Theodore Parker, and tailed by Wendall Phillips, forwarded to the Selectmen of Marblehead, Mass., a printed circular, in which, after setting forth that 'the constituted authorities of the State should make their protest heard throughout the length and breadth of the nation by some action all will feel and understand,' they requested a favorable consideration for the following resolution:

'MEETING OF VIGILANCE COMMITTEE,
Boston, June 8, 1854.

Resolved, That the Executive Committee request the cities and towns of the Commonwealth to imitate the worthy example of the city of Providence, and omit the usual celebration of the 4th of July next, and to mark, by tolling of bells and other appropriate means, the fresh insult offered to the Commonwealth by kidnapping Anthony Burns in the city of Hancock and Adams.'

Upon receiving this modest and patriotic request, the Selectmen of Marblehead endorsed upon the circular the following, and then sent it back to its authors:

'The Selectmen, after a glance at the infamous sugg stion contained in the within circular, have deemed it unworthy of notice, and return it to the source from whence it came.'

We apprehend that the Boston abolitionists will have considerable difficulty in inducing any town or city to desecrate our national holiday in the manner they propose. Even the city of Providence, whose 'worthy example' they recommend to imitation, has been forced by public sentiment to back out from the ridiculous position it had assumed, and it now goes in for a public celebration.

THE TREATY WITH SANTA ANNA.—The House of Representatives is asked to appropriate ten million of dollars, to be paid over to Santa Anna, in two installments, for a strip of Mexican territory which our Government has been purchasing from him. By the terms of the treaty, seven millions are to be paid down, the moment the ratific tions are exchanged, and the remaining three millions when the new boundary line shall be surveyed, marked, and established. As the ratifications of the treaty must but exchanged before the 30th inst., on the treaty falls to the ground the House is required to be prompt in giving its sanction to the attraction of ten millions out of Uncle Sam's large chest. Of course, it will not refuse That would be rank insubordination.

The treaty, for which we are to pay ten millions, relieves us from the alleged obligations in the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, to protect Mexico from the incursions of the Indians, but it transfers to us the 'wasps with their nest.' It also binds Mexico to observe in good faith the grant for a railroad across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec made in 1853—to Col. Sloo and others. The Garay Grant seems to be ignored. Certain privileges are secured for the officers of the United States Government and its citizens crossing the Isthmus after the road is completed; and no interest in the road or its proceeds is to be transferred to any foreign government. In addition to these; for our ten millions, we get our boundary with Mexico shifted a little south, as follow:

'The Mexican Republic agrees to designate the following as her true limits with the United States for the future; retaining the same dividing line between the two Californias, as already defined and established according to the 5th article of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo, the limits between the two Republics shall be as follows: Beginning in the Gulf of Mexico, three leagues from land, opposite the mouth of the Rio Grande, as provided in the 5th article of the treaty of Guadalupe Hidalgo; thence as defined in the said article, up the middle of the river to the point where the parallel of 31 deg 47 north latitude, crosses the same; thence due west 100 miles; thence south to the parallel of 31 deg 20 north lat.; thence along the said parallel of 31 deg. 10 to the 111th meridian of longitude west of Greenwich; thence in a straight line to a point on the Colorado river, 20 English miles below the junction of the Gila and Colorado, and it intersects the present line between the United States and Mexico.

☞They who will abandon a friend for one error, know but little of the human character, and prove that their hearts are as cold as their judgments are weak.

APPOINTMENTS BY THE PRESIDENT.—The following appointments by the President have been confirmed by the Senate:

A H rhemont, of South Carolina, to be consul of the United States for the port or Genoa, in Sardinia.

S Ricker, of Louisiana, to be consul of the United States for the electorate of Hesse Cassel, the Grand Duchy of Hesse Darmstadt, and the Duchy of Nassau.

INDIAN AGENT DEAD.—Judge R. C. S. Btown, not long since appointed agent for the Pottawatomies, is dead. So says a dispatch from Independence. He was formerly a resident of Arkansas.

SPIRITUALISM.—This phenomenon, which is exciting so much attention and securing to itself so many believers in this and other parts of the world can now be put to the test in regard to its intelligence and truthfulness in narrating events said to have transpired in remote sections. The Newark Daily Mercury states that one of the spiritual mediums in that city has particularly described a great victory achieved by the Russian forces over the Turks on Saturday, the 17th instant, somewhere in the neighborhood of Silistria. According to the intelligence, some 15,000 Turks were killed, and the victory is described as one of the most decided and brilliant on record.

CHOLERA ON THE KENTUCY RIVER.—We learn from the officers of the steamer Blue Wing, that on Friday last, there were four deaths in the family of Mr. Threlkold, residing near Oregon, Mercer county, including himself, his wife, and one child. The fourth was an old lady who resided in the family—probably the mother of Mrs. Threlkold.

Dr. W. G. Armstrong, the attending physician in the last mentioned cases, who resided near El Dorado, was violently attacked the next morning and died during the afternoon. He was a most estimable man.

☞A party of young men and women went in a scow last Sunday week, on the Canal Reservoir at Whitehall, Sussex county, New Jersey, for a boat ride. When some distance from the shore, a young man sitting in the stern between two girls, put his arm around them, and playfully remarked that it would be easy for him to keel them over into the water. Making a feint to do so, he lost his balance, and all three went over backwards. One of the girls fortunately caught the side of the boat, and clung on till the party had recovered sufficient presence of mind to pull her in. The other girl and young man were drowned.

MR. EVERETT ON SLAVERY.—The Utica (N. Y.) Daily Observer quotes the following extract from a speech delivered by Edward Everett in the House of Representatives in 1827. The New Haven Register expresses the hope that the political clergymen of New England may read it carefully:

'Sir, I am no soldier. My habits and education are very unmilitary; but there is no cause in which I would sooner buckle a knapsack on my back, and put a musket on my shoulder, than that of putting down a servile insurrection at the South. The great relation of servitude, in some form or other, with greater or less departure from the theoretic equality of men, is inseparable from our nature. Domestic slavery is not, in my judgment, to be sat down as any immoral or irreligious relation. No, sir, the New Testament says: 'Slaves, obey your master.' I cannot admit that its duties are not pre-supposed and sanctioned by religion. I know of no way by which this form of servitude can be fixed but by political institution.'

THE NICE YOUNG WOMAN.—The Nice young woman goes to bed when other people are getting up, dotes upon Don Juan, and thinks she must have written Walker's Dictionary; copies all the faults and none of the virtues of cultivated women: wonders where pork and beans grow, and thinks it singular that eggs don't break in rolling from the trees; covers the legs of her piano, and shuts the room out of her bedroom, because there is a man to it; prides herself upon delicate health, and always gets up a nervous fit when there is a handsome fellow near who understands her case; adores Italian music, and never lives through an English opera; can't manage 'our cook,' and wonders whom her dirty little brother belongs to; falls desperately in love with a pair of incipient moustaches, gets up a flirtation with its boon companion; splits the difference by romantically eloping with the bosom friend of both parties, and comes to her senses some fine morning, by finding herself destitute, her pockets empty and a Dog fit for weariness labor starting her in the face! Who shall say this is not the fate of many a full-blooded, free young woman!

☞We have a great deal of faith in tough newspaper stories, especially if they are "fish stories," but we cannot swallow the following: "A canal boat loaded in part with 1,100 bushels of peas, was sunk in the Hudson, opposite Albany last week. The swelling of the peas burst open the side of the boat."

WASHINGTON, June 29.

SENATE.—The debate in the Senate was very exciting.

Mr. Pettit said that on Monday, in debate, [he referred to Mr. Summer's open disvowal of his obligations to the constitution and to the oath to support it, in no very complimentary terms.] In the official report of that debate it was referred to as having been said: 'I recognised no obligation in the constitution to bind me to help to reduce man to slavery.' These words, said Mr. Pettit, were not said in the Senate, and if they had been said by him they would have been false and I would have noticed them.

Mr Sumner—I call the Senate to order. I say they were uttered by me here in the Senate.

Mr. Pettit—I will prove it in his teeth what he says is false. (Cries of order, order.) I say he did not make use of the remarks here reported on the floor, but after the adjournment he went to the reporter and had them inserted in the report of my remarks. He then argued that the Senator never had the floor to make any such remarks, and if it was made it was done privately and not heard by the Senators. It ought not to go into the report. It was unfair in any Senator to insert remarks into reports which were not actually made in his speech. The report contained this remark and no reply appeared from me, because the remark was not made.—He discussed the rights of Senators to review their remarks. He said that when proof sheets of his speech were handed him, he saw this interpolation and pronounced it false, and directed it to be left out; the foreman of the Globe office had, however, put it in. He read a letter from the reporter for the Globe, to the effect that this remark did not appear in the short hand notes on Monday's debate, but, that when Mr. Sumner called to revise his remarks he had put the report in the shape in which it now appears. The Senator had said in answer to the remark, that he would not execute the constitution, and said he recognized no such obligation.

Mr Sumner—The remarks were made by me substantially as reported. I made them in my seat, and did not suppose they would reach the reporter's ear. He then explained that the reporter voluntarily showed him the report, and finding it did not correspond exactly with what he had said, he had corrected it. As to what else the Senator had said, he had not one word to reply.

The subject, which had consumed an hour was ther dropped.

The House bill to aid Minnesota to construct a railroad was taken up and passed.

A motion to refer the Boston petition for the repeal of the fugitive slave law was taken up.

Mr Dixon spoke an hour in defense of the fugitive slave law, and in denouncing the opposition to it. He also declared that the Whig party of the North had become abolitionized as a body and renounced any political connection with them while they remained so. He referred to the platform of Whig State convention of New Hampshire, and said if the text laid down by that body was to be adopted by the Northern Whigs, he desired to be forever disconnected from them.

An effort was then made to postpone the subject until Monday, but, after some debate, it was voted down.

Mr Mallory followed, also defending the fugitive slave law, and in the course of his remarks he referred to Mr Sumner's disavowal of any obligation imposed by the oath of support to the constitution.

Mr Sumner.—I call the gentleman to order, I never said so.

Mr Mallory said he would not put even into a dog's mouth any statement that was not true—he would be glad to know what the Senator did say.

Mr Sumner—I said I recognized no obligation on me to help to return and reduce to slavery any man.

Mr Clay said he could not sit silent and hear the Senator, with insolence of manner and unblushing face, deny having unqualifiedly disavowed his constitutional obligations and attempt to throw the responsibility on the reporter. He confided in the reporter, who's character, he said, would compare favorably wit Mr Sumner's among persons who knew both, but among strangers he would perhaps be treated as an inferior to the person who accidentally occupied the seat in the Senate. The Senator did make the remark imputed to him, and the Senators all around him corroborated the report. The qualification put on the declaration by the interpolation in the report was an after thought and done to shrink and avoid the responsibility of appearing to the world as a man having desecrated the Senate chamber with his presence and the holy evangelists with his lips.

Mr Sumner followed in a long speech in his defense, from which I make the following extracts:

Mr Sumner said, since I had the honor of addressing the Senate yesterday, various Senators have spoken and several have alluded to me in terms clearly beyond the sanction of parliamentar debate. Of this I make no complaint, if to them it seems proper, courteous, and parliamentary to ennoble the heart with words and lall a cursing like a very scullion. I will not interfere with the enjoyment which they find in such exposure of themselves. They have suddenly shown their quarters. Two of them (the Senator from South Carolina and the Senator from Virginia who sits immediately behind me) are not young. Their heads are amply crowned by time. They did not speak from any ebullition of temper of age.

It is melancholy to belive they showed themselves as they are. It were charitable to believe that they are in reality better than they show themselves. I think that I am not the only person on this floor who, in listing to them, in this debate, these two self-confessed champions of the peculiar fanaticism of the South, was remind of the striking words of Jefferson picturing the influence of slavery. He said, "the whole commerce between the master and slave is the perpetual exercise of the most bois terous passions, the most unremitting despotism, on one part, and degrading submission on the other." Our children see this and learn to imitate it, for man is an imitative animal. The parent storms; the child looks on and catches. The man must be a prodigy who can retain his manners and manliness undepraved by such circumstances. No person who has witnessed the Senator from South Carolina and the Senator from Va., in this debate will place them among the prodigies described by Mr Jefferson. As they spoke the Senate chamber must have seemed to their sight a plantation stocked with slaves, over which the lash of the overseer had free scope. There was little that fell from them which deserves reply; certainly not the hard words they used so readily. The Senator from Virginia complained that I had characterised a person who went from Virginia to Boston in pursuit of a slave, as a slave-hunter. Sir, I chose to call things by their right names.—When I call white and black, I call black a man who degrades himself to the work of chasing a poor negro. Who, under the inspiration of freedom and the guidance of the north star, has sold a free man's home far away from the whip of the overseer—I call him a slave-hunter. If the Senator will give me any term which more precisely describes such a person I will use it. It was said by one of the philosophers of antiquity that the blush is a sign of virtue; and permit me to add that the sensibility which that Senator displays at a just term, which truly characterises an odious person, is kindred to a blush, which even the plantation manners of the Senator could not conceal.

And the Senator from South Carolina too has betrayed his sensibility! and here let me say that this Senator knows well that I always listen with peculiar pleasure to his rich exuberent speech as it gurgles forth so often tinctured by generous ideas, except when in defiance of reason he undertakes to defend that which is obviously indefensible. This Senator was disturbed when to his cruelty, whether I would render personal assistance in reducing or returning, I use the words as equivalent as fellow man to slavery, I exclaimed—is the servant a dog that he should do this thing. The Senator asks if there is any dog in the constitution. He does not seem to think that by the interpretation he has given to the constitution he has helped to torture here a regular South Carolina bloodhound to hunt negroes. No sir, I do not believe there is any bloodhounds in the constitution of the U. S. But since the brief response which I made to the impunity of Senators has drawn upon me various attacks, all marked by grossness of language and manner, since I have been charged with openly declaring my purpose to violate the constitution.

House—The House passed the ten million bill by a vote of 103 to 62, immediately on the coming out of the committee. The debate was very dry and uninteresting.

☞We copy the following excellent burlesque from the N. O Delta, of the 9th:

Great Excitement!!!

The country in danger—15,000 Fillibusters in New Orleans!—The police called!—A forlorn hope!—Three Fillibusters arrested, clothed one-half in Buckram, the remainder in Kendall Green!—The country saved—Great rejoicing!

Having at last come across a most important local item—we have put our best foot foremost in finding a head for it—and after carefully reading over the above astounding caption, we came to the self satisfactory conclusion that we had done remarkably well for a beginner.—But now to the "facts" of the case.

After reading the announcement of the startling fact in the New York Express, that 15,000 fillibusters had assembled in New Orleans, all armed, equipped, and ready to march at a moment's notice upon the fated Island of Cuba, our efficient chief of police called a council of his officers, and laying the statement of the case before them, requested their opinion as to the course he should pursue in the present momentous emergency. All aggreed after considerable debate that four tried and trusty officers of the police force of this city should be detailed to the country around, and bring in everything in the shape of a fillibuster. The preliminaries arranged, one of the special policemen repaired to the high mountains, which overlook the city from the rear of Algiers, while the other three took up their line of march for the mountains along in rear of the city—we mean that snow-capped chain which divides the sea of Pontchartrain from our beloved city, and which Napoleon crossed at the head of the British when he took New Orleans on the 8th of Jan., 1815. It is a well-known fact to the people of our city, and if they dont know it, why the people of New York and Washington city do that in these mountains there are deep caverns and subterranean passages, out of some of which our citizens drew their supply of coal during last winter when that article was selling at $2 50 a barrel.

It would be impossible for us to follow this forlorn hope of noble policemen through all the trials and difficulties they had to surmount in their search after fillibusters; suffice it to say that after wandering over the mountains which encircle our city around about, like a great natural wall, for several hours, these brave policemen walked back to the station-house again, bringing with them three piratical looking individuals who had a gun in their possession, and had been found secreted in one of the caverns of the mountains, well known to our citizens, or rather to the Washington letter-writers, as a great place of resort for fillibusters. These were all that could be found, who looked any way fillibusterish. On learning this, New Orleans regained her equanimity, and the Mississippi river, which had been frightened up stream by the astounding intelligence, began to pursue its old course again: and we are happy to say peace is again restored.

GENIUS TALENT AND CLEVERNESS.—Genius rushes like a whirlwind—Talent marches like a cavalcade of heavy horse—Cleverness skims like a swallow in a summer evening, with a sharp shrill note, and a sudden turning. The man of genius dwells with men and with nature; the man of talent in his study; but the clever man dances here, there and everywhere, like a butterfly in a hurricane, striking everything and enjoying nothing, but too light to be dashed to pieces.—The man of talent will attack theories, the clever man will assail individuals, and slander private character. But the man of genius despises both; he heeds none, he fears none, he lives in himself, shrouded in the consciousness of his own strength; he interfers with none, and walks forth an example that 'eagles fly alone, they are but sheep that herd together.' It is true that should a poisonous worm cross his path, he may tread it under his foot; should a cur snarl at him, he may chastise it; but he will not, cannot attack the private cr al another. Clever men write verses, men of talent write prose, but the man of genius writes poetry.—Hazlitt

A STORY SPOILED.—The ox was no little chuckling among the northern whig papers over the late Washington municipal election, on the pretence that it was 'an administration defeat,' and a 'condemnation of the Nebraska bill.' The wind is taken out of their sails most effectually by the National Intelligencer, the old whig organ in the metropolis:

'The Union, in controverting a statement in a Philadelphia journal that the result of the recent Mayor's election in this city was a verdict of the people of Washington against the Nebraska bill, requests our testimony as to the fact. We are bound both in candor and politeness to comply with the Union's request, although we took no part in the canvass and poke with very few persons on the subject. But, as far as our knowledge extends, we can very confidently say that the Nebraska question did not enter into the contest, and we presume was not even thought of.—Nor was the election decided by old party issues.

OUR DIFFICULTIES WITH SPAIN.—The Madrid correspondent of the London Times, writing under date of May 31, says.

'In the meantime, and unless the Spanish Ministry, acting in opposition to professions it has made to persons in its confidence, has directed its Minister in Washington to make considerable concessions, or is prepared to send him instructions to that effect as soon as it perceives that a contrary course is unavailing, I am at a loss to see how the difficulty is to terminate without hostilities. America is one of the last countries that can be expected to desist from demands of so decided a nature as those which have been made by its Minister in complete accordance with his instructions. And here I must express my belief, founded on information on which I fully rely, that the report mentioned by the American correspondent of one of your morning contemporaries, that Mr. Soule has gone beyond those instructions, is totally unfounded, and that this will be clearly shown whenever the correspondence relating to the Black Warrior question is brought before the public. If we admit, therefore, that the United States are not likely wholly to abandon, without other compensation than the remission of a trifling fine, such demands as those put forth in the present case, it is tolerably clear that Spain must yield or prepare for war.'

IT WOULD HARDLY DO for any one to have the temerity nowadays to question the excellence of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, which are prepared by Dr. C. M. Jackson. In cases of dyspepsia, liver complaint and derangment of the digestive organs, their many virtues have long since been made plainly apparent They purge from the system the morbid humors which retard the natural functions, and bring pallidness to the cheek, and suffering to the brow. They banish those clogs upon happiness, and restore the system to high health.—2w.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Since the late fire I purchased from J. N. CANNON his entire interest in the firm of CANNON & GAINES, and have disposed of the whole stock in trade to Dr J. M. Mills. My thanks are hereby tendered for the liberal patronage bestowed upon the late firm, and I take pleasure in requesting all the friends and patrons of the same to extend their custom to Dr. Mills.

Holloway's Ointment and Pills, the Best Medicines for the Cure of Bad Legs.— Mr Dingle, of St. Stephen's near Saltash, Cornwall, was afflicted for a considerable time with a bad leg; it had three or four large wounds in it, attended with continual pain and general loss of health. He tried many remedies, prescribed by surgeons and others, but obtained neither relief, nor any mitigation of his sufferings. At length, from recommendation, he tried Holloway's Ointment and Pills, and these invaluable medicines effected a perfect cure in a very short period. Mr. McKay, chemist, 40, Catherine street, Devonport, vouches for the truth of this statement.

☞NEURALGIA.—This formidable disease, which seems to baffle the skill of physicians, yields like magic to Carter's Spanish Mixture.

Mr. F. Bayden, formerly of the Astor House, New York, and late proprietor of the Exchange Hotel, Richmond, Va., is one of the hundreds who have been cured of severe Neuralgia by Carter's Spanish Mixture.

Since his cure, he has recommended it to numbers of others who were suffering with nearly every form of disease, with the most wonderful success.

He says it is the most extraordinary medicine he has ever seen used, and the best blood purifier known.

The Tri-Weekly Yeoman,

Eloquent Speech of Kossuth.

The second speech of Kossuth at Sheffield England, was a master effort. He demonstrated the impolicy of relying upon an Austrian alliance against Russia and exclusively He thus remodeled the plan of Napoleon's experiment.

Look to history. There in the mirror of the past your own future is dangerous Remember the campaign of Napoleon in Moscow, in 1812. My brave friend here, Col Izdzikowsky, was there. [Cheers] Napoleon undertook in check the growing ascendancy of Russia, just as you do now. And with all his regard of the Lords Raglan and Marshals St. Arnaud, he it said the little corporal knew something about war. He knew that Russia, though not formidable abroad, is anything but weak in defense. He prepared a large army. The forces which he employed am ounted to 610,000 men 182,000 horse, and 1 872 guns. What is the combined Anglo-French army in the east when compared to this? A Chobham camp parade. [Laughter] Napoleon knew that it is not on the sea that a decisive battle can be fought against Russia He went on by land. He knew—and he marked well this fact—that without a large cavalry, there is no possibility of holding a bivouac for 24 hours against the Russian army, and he took care to h ve much cavalry The cavalry of his center alone was 140,000 strong How much have you by-the-bye, in the east? He did not even neglect the pitiful expedient to substitute for Polish nationality the idea of Polish legions, just as you began to do in the east Besides, he also looked for alliances just as you do, only I am a politician than a soldier, he addressed himself to whom? To Austria and Prussia, precisely as your Government does Only he had stronger claims on the fidelity of Austria than you have Having had to dispose of the very existence of Austria, he just pardoned or saved her, and to make the alliance sure, he married the daughter of the Emperor Francis, of Austria.

Both Prussia and Austria yielded to the courting of the mighty Cæsar, became his allies, and sent two auxiliary armies to aid him in his campaign against Russia. You know the rest of it. Napoleon lost 552,000 men, 167,000 horses, and 1,222 guns. One of his dear allies betrayed him on the battle field, the other compromised him by inactivity, and then both—one of them being his father-in-law—turned against him to die a lingering death on the rock of St. Helena. [Cheers] You have been told by superficial professors in your schools that it was Generals Frost and Famine which demolished Napoleon. No; he was defeated by having taken Austria and Prussia for allies against Russia. You will not doubt this fact if you will let yourselves be reminded only of the truth that without Poland being a reconstructed nation, no expedition against Russia can succeed, the aim of which is to reduce the power of Russia to proportions innocuous to European liberty. [Cheers.] Now, would you think that Napoleon with his comprehensive genius, did not understand that truth? Certainly he did How, then come it to pass that he advanced against Russia, without having, in the very outset, re-constructed the independence of Poland? Why, it was simply a tacit but necessary consequence of his having taken Austria and Prussia for allies.

To re-construct Russian Poland has been till now, and will be in all future, a ridiculous compromise between heaven and hell by which no soul is to be saved. It would be a second edition of the Crimean Republic, doomed at the very hour of its creation to foreign dependence and reinterred absorption. Napoleon knew this; he did possess it. But to re-construct Poland, without Gallicia and Posen, its vital limbs he could not, because he was allied to Austria and Prussia. Thus this unnatural alliance deprived him of the possibility of realizing that measure, without which, in my humble opinion, and I have studied history, there was and there is a madness in believing that Russia is to be vanquished. Mark this striking lesson of history well You are in the same predicament, the situation is the same the conditions indispensable to success is the same, the dangers of unnatural alliances the same the only difference in the situation is, that Russia has grown stronger in the meanwhile by your own fault, and that you have not an army of 610 000 men in the field If, with all these evident practical warnings of history, England still persists in courting the false favors of Austria, and thus persists in paralyzing those two nationalities, without the cooperation of which neither Turkey can be conserved nor Russia's power reduced, nor a solid and durable European peace gained, England will step by step entangle herself in increasing difficulties, to arise from one fatal situation to another, as she has been tumbling from the very beginning up to the present day, and the end will be vain sacrifices, ruin and shame.

Etiquette for widows.—Alphonse Karr, a French writer, thus gives directions for the quiation and mihinery of sorlow:

Those who shall scrupulously observe certain simple and easy practices, shall be considered to experience a sufficient degree of grief. Thus it is proper for a woman to mourn her husband a year and six weeks. (A man only mourns his wife six months). That is to say, the widow, on the morning of the hour hundred and seventy-first day (or the widow-er on the dawn of the one hundred and eighty-first) awakens in a gay and cheerful mood.

Grief divides itself into several periods in the case of widows.

1st period.—Despair, six weeks. This period is known by a black paramatta dress, crape collar and cuffs, and the disappearance of the hair beneath the widow's cap.

2d period.—Profound grief. Despondency, six weeks. Profound grief is recognized by the dress, which still continues to be of paramatta, and the despondency which succeeded to this, is symbolized by the white crape collar and cuffs.

3d period.—Grief, softened by the consolations of friends and the hope soon to join the regretted object of her affection in a better world.—These melancholy sentiments last six months; they are expressed by a black silk dress; the widow's cap is still worn.

4th period.—Time heals the wounds of the heart. Providence tempers the East wind to the shorn lamb. Violent attacks of grief only come on at rare intervals. Sometimes the widow seems a though she had forgotten her loss, but all at once a circumstance, apparently indifferent, recalls it, and she falls back into grief. Yet she dwells, from time to time, upon the faults of the beloved, but it is only to contrast them with his dazzling virtues. This period would be tiresome enough for the world at large; therefore it has been decided to express it simply by half-mourning.

5th period.—There is now only a softened melancholy, which will last all her life—i e, six weeks. This touching and graceful sentiment shows itself by a quiet gray silk dress; the sufferer less feels the loss than the actual deprivations of a husband.

When any lady loses her husband, it is requisite either to pay her a visit of condolence; or to address a letter to her. It is customary in these cases to make use of such language as admits the probability of the greatest possible grief, that of Artemisia, for example. Fontenelle, however, thought proper to send a blank letter to a young friend of his who had lost an old husband, saying he would fill it up three months afterward. When he did so, he began, 'Madame, I congratulate you.' But this is quite contrary to custom Therefore, when a widow loses an old avaricious husband, from whom she inherits a large fortune; you ought not the less to entreat her not to give herself up to despair, and take care to look as though you believed that it was law and custom alone which prevented her from burying herself with him.

☞Burns, the run-away slave, says he never saw such a massa as Mass-chusetts!

Washington, June 27.

Senate.—Sixteen priv te bills were received from the House, and were referred. The Senate took up the bill for examination and settlement of accounts between the United States and Maryland, for interest on money advanced to the United States during the last war. The bill passed.

The House bill, changing the time of the meeting of Congress from December to November was lost. Yeas 15, nays 33.

House—Mr Hand asked, but did not obtain leave (Mr Giddings objecting) to introduce a resolution requesting the President, should he deem it expedient, to furnish the House with any information relative to citizens of the United States and others being engaged in organizing and fitting out a military expedition for the invasion of Cuba, as much was stated to be in his possession, at the date of his proclamation.

Mr Houston offered a resolution to terminate the debate on the Mexican treaty bill to-morrow at noon, and expressed his hope that the present session would terminate on the 31st July. On Monday next he said he would call up the resolution for adjournment Monday.

Mr Haven said that from the turn the debate had taken, it was evident if the House does not call for the correspondence and instructions relative to the Gadsden treaty, the debate might as well be closed.

It seems to be conceded on all hands that the House has the right, as a matter of expediency, to withhold the appropriation. If the friends of the administration are willing the instructions and correspondence shall be laid before the House, that it may be acted on as a question of expediency and propriety, the debate ought not to be closed for several days. If the House should doubt that the treaty was a proper one, it would have the documents to examine.

The resolution to close the debate to-morrow was then adopted, yeas 94, nays 58.

The House then went into committee on the treaty bill.

New Orleans, June 27.

Later from Mexico—Death of Mad. Santag.—Santa Anna had issued a decree, declaring all the departments, districts, and towns, refusing obedience to the Government, to be in a state of seige

Madame Santag was taken sick on the 11th of June, upon which night the play of Lucretia Borgia was announced. She was somewhat better on the 16th, but on the 18th took a relapse and died, causing universal grief. An immense procession followed her remains to the tomb.

New Orleans, June 27.

The examination of the witnesses before the grand jury was not satisfactory in regard to the Cuba expedition, as they were excused from answering several questions, lest they might criminate themselves.

Philadelphia, June 26

The U. S. Circuit Court granted an injunction against the construction of the Wheeling bridge.

The Sunday law has been enforced more strictly than during the previous Sunday. Rum was had to go to the Island of Gloucester for their liquor.

Norfolk, June 24.

Mr. Strabbs, Whig and Know-Nothing, has been elected Mayor of this city. The entire Know-Nothing ticket has been elected.

The Irish, and the Roman Catholic Press in America.—John Mitchell, the Irish exile, is in the habit in his paper, the Citizen, of saying just what he thinks, in a very direct and powerful manner. He recently wrote as follow:

Of all the sorrowing sisterhood of Europe, she from whose womb we came, is the least thought of, the least pitied, the least reverenced. In this generous and magnificent republic, to the bubbling up of which Ireland has contributed so much treasure of blood, and muscles, and intellect, and heart—there must surely be a substantial reason for all this. Upon the Roman Catholic Press, he and in Ireland, we charge this business.—They, by their infamous and cruel wrongs have made Ireland, here and elsewhere, a parable of reproach; have stripped her of many honors; have turned away from her those generous sentiments of love and hope, which were her to have flowing to her feet from every heart which God had touched.

Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry, is a chemical xtract of Wild Cherry and Tar. Every body knows that Wild Cherry possesses important medicinal properties; and that Tar Water has always been administered in Consumption and Lung Affections generally, by our oldest and safest physicians. Various remedies have been offered for the cure of diseases of the lungs, but of all that have yet been discovered, it is admitted by physicians, and all who have witnessed its effects, that none has proved as successful as this, for Asthma.—Shortness of Breath, and similar affections, it may be pronounced a positive cure. It has cured Asthma in many cases of ten and twenty years standing, after physicians had declared the case beyond the reach of medicine.

AYER'S PILLS.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

THERE has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient, they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

COUGHS, COLDS, HOARSENESS, BRONCHITIS, WHOOPING-COUGH, CROUP, ASTHMA, AND CONSUMPTION.

THIS remedy has won for itself such notoriety from its cures of every variety of pulmonary disease, that it is entirely unnecessary to recount the evidences of its virtues in any community where it has been employed. So wide is the field of its usefulness, and so numerous the cases of its cures, that almost every section of the country abounds in persons publicly known, who have been restored from alarming and even desperate diseases of the lungs by its use. When once tried its superiority over every other medicine of its kind is too apparent to escape observation, and where its virtues are known, the public no longer hesitate what antidote to employ for the distressing and dangerous affections of the pulmonary organs which are incident to our climate. And not only in formidable attacks upon the lungs, but for the milder varieties of Colds, Coughs, Hoarseness, &c.; and for Children it is the pleasantest and safest medicine that can be obtained.

As it has long been in constant use throughout this section, we need not do more than assure the people its quality is kept up to the best that it ever has been, and that the genuine article is sold by—

ALL who want Ares of the real Collins & Co. make should be particular to notice the stamps, as there are various counterfeits and imitations stamped Collins, and labelled much like ours, which are fraudulently sold in some parts of the United States as our manufacture. These are made in different parts of the country by various axe-makers, and are generally of very inferior quality. The genuine Collins axes, which have acquired such an extensive reputation, are invariably stamped "COLLINS & Co. HARTFORD," and each axe has a pretext label with my signature. It is now more than TWELVE YEARS since we commenced the business with the stamp of "Collins & Co., Hartford," and I do no know of any other axe-maker by the name of Collins in the United States. SAM. TESTIMONY OF SAMUEL PARSONS.

A Cure of Distressing Liver Complaint of Five Years' Standing.

CERTIFIED TO BY DR. WILSTACH.

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 21, 1854.

This is to certify that for the last five years of my life I have been severely afflicted with Liver Complaint. To describe all of my horrible feelings would be out of my power. I was troubled with a severe dead pain in my left side, with sharp pains under my shoulder blade. My sleep was disturbed, unrefreshing, accompanied by a ringing whizzing noise in the ears. Urine was high colored, and rotted with pain. Limbs were numb cold extremities Headache, great depression of spirits. My countenance assumed a yellow, cadaverous hue. My whole system was greatly debilitated. I have been under the care of skilful physicians, without any relief, and despaired of ever obtaining relief. But, by the advice of Dr. Wilstach, of Lafayette, I made use of Dr Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla,' and by the use of two bottles of the medicine, all of the above distressing symptoms have been removed, and I am now in as perfect a state of health as I have ever enjoyed. In fact, the medicine has effected a perfect cure, and I feel it a duty to recommend it to all afflicted with any of the above symptoms

[Signed] SAMUEL PARSONS.

Lawrence Tp., Tippecanoe co., Ind.

Mr. Samuel Parsons is one of our oldest and most reputable citizens and his statement is entitled to entire confidence. I consider that the cure in his case was effected solely by 'Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla,' and I regard it as one of the most extraordinary cures that has come under my observation

C. F. WILSTACH.

Erysipelas Cured by the use of Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla:

Scott Township, Vandenburg co., Indiana, July 4th, 1853.

J. H. Park—Dear Sir—It is with great pleasure I write about the very happy effects of your 'Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla,' upon my daughter, who has been suffering under that dreadful disease of Erysipelas, with which she was attacked in 1849, and she was attended by some of our most skillful physicians for over eight months perseveringly, without any beneficial effect whatever. She became reduced to a perfect skeleton. She had ulcers from her shoulder to her knees, which continually discharged offensive matter. Her physicians pronounced her case hopeless, and beyond the reach of medicine. My neighbors and myself thought her dissolution near at hand One of my neighbors insisted on my trying 'Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla,' as a last resort, for as all of our physicians had given her up, there could be no detriment in it. I consented to do so more on restless desire to do something for my daughter while life lasted, than from any hope of her getting relief. So I commenced using the medicine according to directions, and to my great astonishment, she commenced improving, and before she used eight bottles she was able to walk out. She used, in all, twelve bottles of Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla,' which restored her to perfect health, in December '53. She is now entirely free from any vestige of the complaint.

I most earnestly recommend it to every person suffering under any similar disease.

Yours truly, D. L. MARTIN.

I do hereby certify, that my father's statement of my late illness is not by any means exaggerated. My health now perfect, which I ascribe wholly to the use of 'Dr. Guysott's Extract of Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla.' ANN D. MARTIN.

AYER'S PILLS,

A NEW and singularly successful remedy for the cure of all Bilious diseases—Costiveness, Indigestion, Jaundice, Dropsy, Rheumatism, Fevers, Gout, Humors, Nervousness, Irritability, Inflammations, Headache, Pains in the Breast, Side, Back, and Limbs, Female Complaints, &c., &c. Indeed, very few are the diseases in which a Purgative Medicine is not more or less required, and much sickness and suffering might be prevented, if a harmless but effectual Cathartic were more freely used. No person can feel well while a costive habit of body prevails; besides it soon generates serious and often fatal diseases, which might have been avoided by the timely and judicious use of a good purgative. This is alike true of Colds, Feverish symptoms, and Bilious derangements. They all tend to become or produce the deep seated and formidable distempers which load the hearses all over the land. Hence a reliable family physic is of the first import me to the public health, and this Pill has been perfected with consummate skill to meet that demand. An extensive trial of its virtues by Physicians, Professors, and Patients, has shown results surpassing any thing hitherto known of any medicine. Cures have been effected beyond belief, were they not substantiated by persons of such exalted position and character as to forbid the suspicion of untruth.

Among the eminent gentlemen to whom we are allowed to refer for these facts, are

PROF. VALENTINE MOTT, the distinguished Surgeon of New York City.

DOCT. A. A. HAYES, Practical Chemist of the Port of Boston, and Geologist for the State of Massachusetts.

IRA L. MOORE, M. D., an eminent Surgeon and Physician, of the City of Lowell, who has long used them in his extensive practice.

H. C. SOUTHWICK, Esq., one of the first merchants in New York City.

C. A. DAVIS, M. D., Sup't and Surgeon of the United States Marine Hospital, at Chelsea, Mass.

Did space permit, we could give in any hundred such names, from all parts where the Pills have been used, but evidence even more convincing than the certificates of these eminent public men is shown in their effects upon trial.

These Pills, the result of long investigation and study, are offered to the public as the best and most complete which the present state of medical science can afford. They are compounded not of the drugs themselves, but of the medicinal virtues only of Vegetable remedies, extracted by chemical process in a state of purity, and combined together in such a manner as to insure the best results. This system of composition for medicines has been found in the Cherry Pectoral and Pills both, to produce a more efficient remedy than had hitherto been obtained by any process. The reason is perfectly obvious. While by the old mode of composition, every medicine is burdened with more or less of acrimonious and injurious qualities, by this each individual virtue only that is desired for the curative effect is present. All the inert and obnoxious qualities of each substance employed are left behind, the curative virtues only being retained. Hence it is self-evident the effects should prove as they have proved more purely remedial, and the Pills a surer more powerful antidote to disease than any other medicine known to the world.

As it is frequently expedient that my medicine should be taken under the counsel of an attending Physician, and as he could not properly judge of a remedy without knowing its composition, I have supplied the accurate Formulæ by which both my Pectoral and Pills are made to the whole body of Practitioners in the United States and British American Provinces. If however there should be any one who has not received them, they will be promptly forwarded by mail to his address.

Of all the Patent Medicines that are offered, how few would be taken if their composition was known. Their life consists in their mystery. I have no mysteries.

The composition of my preparations is laid open to all men, and all who are competent to judge on the subject freely acknowledge their convictions of their intrinsic merits. The Cherry Pectoral was pronounced by scientific men to be a wonderful medicine before its effects were known. Many eminent Physicians have declared the same thing of my Pills, and even more confidently, and are willing to certify that their anticipations were more than realized by their effects upon trial.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Being sugar wrapped they are pleasant to take, and being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

For minute directions, see the wrapper on the Box.

And as for the preservation of the human frame, and the relation of life, much may be effected, and say fearlessly that health and life can be prolonged for many years beyond its ordinary limit, if Holloway's Pills are taken early by the blood according to the rules laid down and contained in the directions which accompany each box.

AFFLICT D DREAD!!

PHILADELPHIA MEDICAL HOUSE.—Established 20 years ago by Dr KINKELIN, corner of Third and Union sts., between Spruce and Pine, Philadelphia, Pa.

INVALIDS

Are apprised that Dr KINKELIN confines his practice to a particular branch of medicine, which engages his undivided attention. He cautions the afflicted against the abuse of mercury; its ills are many and fearful to get out of life. Recent and recondite are promptly extinguished

WENTY YEARS EXPERIENCE.

In the treatment of a class of diseases recently neglected and unworthily consigned, has enabled Dr. KINKELIN, (Author of a work on Self Preservation) to prove that nine tenths of the ruined of both sexes the victims of local and constitutional weakness, mental and physical suffering, are traceable to errors in habits, forming the most secret yet deadly and fatal springs of domestic misery and reckless mortality.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

There is an evil that connect mes imparted to by boys, in solitude, or growing up with them to maturity, and which, if not reformed in due time, not only begets serious aches to matrimonial happiness, but gives rise to a series of protracted, insidious, and devastating affections. Few of those who thus give way to this prevailing practice are aware of the consequences, until they find the nervous system shattered, feel strange and unaccountable feelings, and value tears in the mind.

The unfortunate victim affected becomes he ne, is unable to labor with accustomed vigor, or is rapidly his mind to study, his steps is tardy and weak, he is mel, oresso ive, and engages in his sport with less energy than usual.

If he emancipate himself before the practice has done its worst, and enter matrimony, his marriage is unfruitful, and its sense is lost, that this is caused by his early follies. These are considerations which should awaken the attention of those similarly situated.

MARRIAGE

Requires the fulfillment of several conditions, in order that it may correctly the cause of mutual happiness. Could the veil which covers the origin of domestic wretchedness be raised, one its true source in every instance discovered—how many could it be traced to physical disqualifications and their attendant dissipation! Apply them while there is yet time, in order to have your anistening and relaxed organization refractured, revivified and strengthened.

REMEMBER

He who places himself under Dr KINKELIN'S treatment may religiously confide in his honor as a gentleman and rely upon the assurance, that the secrets of Dr. K's patients will never be disclosed.

Young man—let no false modesty deter you from making your case known to one who from education and professional duty, can certainly befriend you.

Too many think they will cover it the secret in their own breasts, and cure themselves. Alas! how often is this a fatal decision, and how many a promising young man, who might have been an ornament in society, has laid it from the earth.

Strictures of the urethra are rapidly removed by the application of a new therapeutical agent used only by Dr K. Weakness and constitutional debility promptly cured, and full vigor restored.

COUNTRY INVALIDS

Can have (by stating their case explicitly, together with all their symptoms, per letter enclosing a remittance) Dr. K's medicine, appropriated accordingly.

Forwarded to any part of the United States and packed secure from DAMAGE or CURIOSITY.

THE name of salamander was first applied to Wilder's Patent, and introduced by the subscriber in 1840, who in 1841 purchased the right to manufacture. The superiority of Herring's (Wilder's Salamander Safes over all others induced many to infringe upon the patent right by using the composition; other more cautious, and to evade a law suit, made an inferior article, imitating the exterior in form, style, color & painting, and attaching the name "Salamander," "Improved Salamander" "Fire Proof Salamander," "The Genuine Salamander," &c., &c., and have succeeded in palming it off on the ignorant Salamanders as genuine. Dr. Hunter's Medical Manual and hand book for the Afflicted Containing an outline of the origin, progress, treatment and cure of every form of disease, contracted by promiscuous sexual intercourse, by self abuse, or by sexual excess, with advice and directions prevention, written in a similar style avoiding all medical technicalities, and everything that would offend the ear of decency, from the result of some twelve years successful practice, exclusively devoted to the cure of diseases of a delicate or private nature.

To which is added, receipts for the cure of the above diseases, and a treatise on the causes, symptoms and cure of the Liver and Ague.

Testimony of the Professor of Obstetrics in Penn. Coll'ge, Philadelphia—"Dr. Hunter's Medical Manual."—The author of this work must be the majority of those work who advertise to cure the disease of which it treats, is a graduate of one of the best Colleges in the United States. It affords me pleasure to recommend him to the public-nate, or to the victim of malpractice, as a successful and experienced practitioner, in whose honor and integrity they may place the greatest confidence.

JOSEPH LONGSHORE, M. D.

From A. Woodward, M. D., of Penn. University Philadelphia—It gives me pleasure to add my testimonials to the professional claims of the Author of the Medical Manual." Numerous cases of diseases of the Genita Organs, some of them of long standing, have come under my notice, in which his skill has been manifest in restoring to perfect health, in some instances where the patient has been considered beyond medical aid,—in the treatment of Seminal weakness, or disarrangement of the functions produced by PRIVATE ABUSE, or Excess of every kind. I do not know its superior in the profession. I have been acquainted with the Author some thirty years, and deem it no more than justice to him as well as a kindness to the unfortunate victim of early indiscretion, to recommend him as one in whose professional skill and integrity they may safely confide themselves.

ALFRED WOODWARD, M. D.

"This is without exception, the most complete, masterly and intelligible work published on the class of diseases of which it treats. Avoiding all technical terms, it addresses itself to the reason of its readers. It is free from all objectionable matter, and no parent, however lavish his encomiums, can object to placing it in the hand of his son. The author has devoted many years to the treatment of the various complaints treated of, and with one little breath to puff,' and 'one little presumption to impose,' he has offered to the world at the merely nominal price of 25 cents, the fruits of some twenty years most successful practice.'—Invalid.

'No earthly parent should be without the knowledge imparted in this invaluable work. It would save years of pain, mortification and sorrow to the youth under their charge.—People's Advocate.

A Presbyterian clergyman in Ohio, in writing of 'Hunter's Medical Manual,' says: 'Thousand upon thousands of our youth, by evil example and the influence of the passions have been led into the habit of self-pollution without realizing the sin and fearful consequences upon themselves and their posterity. The consummation of thousands, who are raising families have been enfeebled, if not broken down, and they do not know the cause or the cure. Anything that can be done so to enlighten and influence the public mind as to check, and ultimately to remove this wide-spread curse of human wretchedness, would confer the greatest blessing next to the religion of Jesus Christ, on the present and coming generations. Intemperance, (or the use of stimulating drinks,) though it has slain thousands where it thousands, is not a greater scourge to the human race. Accept my thanks on behalf of the afflicted, and believe me, your co-worker in the good work you are so nobly engaged in.
